Temporary stay and residence visa for digital nomads

Temporary stay and residence visa for digital nomads

The eagerly awaited amendment to the legal framework for the entrance, permanence, departure and removal of foreigners from national territory has finally been published (Law no. 23/2007 of 4th July), which introduces the temporary stay and residence visa for digital nomads, allowing the exercise of professional or subordinated activities remotely to outside of the national territory.

Therefore, it will now be possible for these professionals to reside in Portugal provided that they are able to establish an employment or service provision agreement, as per the specific case, with organizations based or with their headquarters located outside of Portugal, performing their respective activities remotely.

However, this regime is still waiting for its regulation for its effective implementation.
